

VACANCY

Our client is an indigenous Nigerian Oil and Gas company in the upstream sector, operating in the Niger Delta region. On their behalf, we are looking for the best candidate possible to fill the vacant position of SENIOR STAFF PRODUCTION ENGINEER. The successful candidate will be in senior management and can move quickly to executive management position, depending on performance. He or She will report directly to Assistant General Manager, Field Operations based at the same location.

ATTRIBUTES:

The right candidate must possess proven attitudes for performance at high levels of upholding flawless field operations and great environmental indicators. He or She must be versed at leading teams through best Standards of Business Practices. Eligible candidates must first show evidence of the following:

- Minimum of first degree in Petroleum Engineering, Mechanical Engineering or Chemical Engineering with at least second class lower
- 10 years or more experience as a Production Engineer, working with an E&P organisation
- Strong technical knowledge in the areas of downhole and surface production technology, including knowledge of hydrocarbon processing equipment and their operations
- Effective oral and written communication skills with previous experience delivering technical presentations. Strong Project Management skills
- In addition, good knowledge of Drilling Engineering and Drilling Operations will be decisive advantage
- Good leadership & interpersonal skills with the opportunity to move to managerial level position for right candidate.

Interested and qualified candidates should submit a detailed personal resume or CV with a hand written application to -

chrismatsonlos@gmail.com

Only shortlisted candidates will be contacted, after two weeks from the date of this publication.